I met Rayana and Bulat Amangeldi on Next Door Neighbor application. Rayana and Amangeldi are from Kazakhstan. This is a country that borders Russia, China and countries that I can't even pronounce, they are: Uzbekistan, Kyrgyzstan and Turkmenistan. During Halloween they were discussing a ghost that has been terrorizing the people of Kazakhstan. But, before I get into this scary ghost story, Bulat told me a very interesting story that happened to his family. In 1984, Bulat and his wife Rayana went back to Kazakhstan to visit family. As Bulat and Rayana were walking through the town of Aktau, from which they are from. Bulat encountered his grandmother walking down the street mumbling to herself. Bulat was shocked. His grandmother died in 1978. Bulat grabbed this woman that looked exactly like his grandmother. The woman hissed at Bulat and wriggled her arm free from Bulat's grasp. The lady then swiftly walked behind a building to get away from Bulat. As Bulat went around the corner, the woman was gone. Bulat thought he saw the ghost of his grandmother. Bulat relates to me that when he grabbed her arm, she was definitely solid to touch. Her skin felt like skin. Bulat now believes his grandmother is a Revenant and she mindlessly walks around the town mumbling to herself. When Bulat related this story to his family he was surprised to find out that one of his cousins saw the grandmother on a hilltop looking down at him. When he approached the hill, she was gone. The cousin says it freaked him out, because she was just staring at him. Bulat asked me if I ever had a case that centered on a Revenant. Out of 2,500 cases, I have never had a case of a Revenant.

KHANKOL VILLAGE WRAITH

Rayana tells me that Kazakhstan is very haunted and most recently the people of Kazakhstan have been seeing a ghost of a woman. The woman prowls the streets at night and terrorizes villagers with her presence. The fear that has gripped the village of Khankol was just enough to prompt West Kazakhstan Province Governor Gali Iskaliev to send out the police to investigate the appearance of this Wraith.

The Khankol Village Wraith has light colored hair. Sometimes her feet do not touch the ground, and she appears to be floating. She haunts the small village of Khankol in the Karatobin district. Her robe is somewhat yellow. One night the Khankol Village Wraith came towards a freight truck. The truck driver was scared to death and came very close in having a head-on accident. The truck driver pulled over and the Khankol Village Wraith was nowhere to be seen. When the truck driver got to the village, he told the towns people. The towns people pulled out their Koran and started reading for protection.

Locals claim that the Wraith will knock on car windows and will also attempt to force drivers to veer off the road. The villagers are so scared of this Wraith, that they are partaking in Sadaka. The ritual sacrifice of an animal. In this case they used a sheep to rid the area of evil spirits. As an avid animal lover, I do not condone this type of ritual. It saddens me that an animal has to lose its life, to get rid of this Wraith. There are other means to rid an area of negative energy and spirits.

According to Tengrinews. The police are now tasked to discover if this ghost story is a prank or a mass hallucination. One policeman joked that he wonders if homemade moonshine is the cause of these sightings.

Paranormal Hotline Call

Date: November 5, 2024

Clients: Gloria S & Ariela L.

Location: Home at Gold River - Sacramento, CA

I get a lot of calls on the paranormal hotline. At one time, I would investigate cases all over Northern California. Nowadays, because of my busy schedule podcasting & writing articles, I only investigate paranormal hotspots in and around Sacramento. On November 5, 2024, I received an interesting call from Gloria S. and Ariela L. who live in a home located at Gold River. Gloria and Ariela has lived in this home for 8 years. 5 months ago, paranormal activity in their home started. First, there was tapping on the walls, then there were knockings on the wall. At first, they thought they had rats or raccoons living inside their walls. They had a pesticide professional inspect their walls and he found no activity of a varmint infestation. Then on one night, they heard loud footsteps on the roof of their house. Ariela ran outside to see who was on their roof and there was no one on the roof.

Gloria says that Ariela gave her a cute stuffed dog on Valentine's Day. The stuffed dog held a red heart and a lighted propeller that would read: "I Love You" to the song 24K Magic by Bruno Mars. After the roof incident, her 3 cats attacked the stuffed dog. The cats took out an eye and chewed up the propellor. Gloria says that this behavior from her cats was shocking, because her cats never tear up things in the house. Gloria placed the stuffed dog on her kitchen counter and was deciding if she was going to keep the damaged stuffed dog or just throw it away. That night, she heard a loud plate crash on the kitchen floor. Gloria and Ariela went immediately into the kitchen and saw a large demonic shadow against the wall. The shadow seemed to be coming from the stuffed dog. The shadow displayed the heart as being upside down. The actual heart on the stuffed dog was not upside down, but the shadow shows that it is. Special Note: The heart should not even show up on the shadow, because the stuffed dog's torso covers the heart. The shadow also had horns, the stuffed dog doesn't have horns, it has floppy ears. Another weird thing was that there was nothing broken on the kitchen floor. When they moved the stuffed dog, the demonic shadow was gone. Gloria threw the dog into the recycle bin. Gloria had a hard time getting rid of the stuffed dog, but she felt like it had to be done. As Gloria and Ariela went back to bed, they heard the song 24K Magic coming from the living room. This was impossible because the stuffed dog was in the recycle bin in the garage and the batteries were taken out. Gloria felt pain on her back and Ariela discovered 4 long scratch marks on Gloria's back. When this happened, Gloria and Ariela decided to contact me.

I asked Gloria if she had any idea on why this paranormal activity started up in her house. Gloria thinks that a woman that was new to their circle of friends may have cursed them. The woman, who I will call "Jody" dabbled in black magic. When Jody got into a heated argument with the group, the group decided to befriend her. Gloria made sure that Jody was no longer invited to events that she and her girlfriends would attend. Jody even called Gloria asking why she was ostracized from the group. When Jody got the explanation, she cursed Gloria and Ariela. Jody told them that they will be tormented. Gloria asked if I could do a house blessing and conduct a small confidential investigation. I accepted. Wish Fire, Psychic Medium and I, headed over to her home. I did manage to get two EVPs that sounded like growls. My EMF detector went off in the area where the stuffed dog would sit. Wish Fire detected a small devilish creature that was sitting in the corner of the living room. Wish Fire pointed the area out and that is where I captured two growling EVPs. Gloria and Ariela are both Baptist and I suggested that they invite a few of the congregation members to do a walk-through of the house, say prayers out loud and sing spiritual songs. On November 7th, they did just that. They got 3 congregation volunteers to come over and they said prayers out loud throughout the house and afterwards, they sang spiritual songs. This method will project so much positive energy into the atmosphere, that a demon or anything negative will have to leave. It's like taking a person that only likes rock & roll, and taking them to a country music concert. They don't like the country music and leave. Dolls and stuffed animals can absorb the energy from a deceased person or demon. Case example: At the Island of the Dead Dolls in Mexico, some of the dolls appear to be possessed. From eyewitness accounts, some of the dolls will make strange verbal sounds, or their eyes will move, their heads will move, etc. I believe that Jody's curse opened a door for a demon to possess the stuffed dog. As for November 15, 2024, the house is at peace, there has been no more paranormal activity. Gloria will keep me appraised on her situation. For now, everything is resolved.

HAUNTINGS NEAR AEROJET

Paul Dale Roberts, HPI's Esoteric Detective

Sacramento Paranormal Investigations

Halo Paranormal Investigations

In 1987, when I got out of the Army, I needed to find a job. I went to Manpower, and they sent me all over the place to work. A fantastic temporary job was with Aerojet Rocketdyne. I worked at Aerojet for 2 weeks. What was memorable about Aerojet was that there were two haunted locations near our building. At lunchtime, I would head over to the American River, which was about 20 minutes away. Roughly 10.1 miles away via US-50E. That would be a great place for my co-workers and I, to get away from the stress of work and have a nice picnic. While eating our lunch, it would be nice to see the rapidly flowing American River. I had a secret agenda on why I would want to eat my lunch by the river. The reason being is that some of my co-workers have told me that sometimes when they walk the trails near the river, they will hear disembodied footsteps behind them. They turn around and there is no one there. Some co-workers even mentioned that they have heard whispering in their ears. In 2007, I went back to that same location, this time equipped with ghost hunting gear. I did manage to get an EVP of a man saying..."please watch your step". It would make sense for a ghost to say something like that, because the trail to the river was sort of steep with jagged rocks along the trail.

As long as I can remember, there have been multiple deaths in the American River near Rancho Cordova, California. Just recently there has been drownings in June 2024 and another in August 2024. In August 2024, a 32-year-old man from Hayward drowned in the American River near Rancho Cordova on Saturday, August 5, 2024. The man, Kelvin Manabat Felarca, was not wearing a life jacket when he went under the water near the El Manto River Access, also known as Clay Banks. His body was recovered about 100 yards downstream by a Sacramento County Sheriff's Office dive team.

Then in June 2024, a teenager's body was recovered from the American River near Rancho Cordova on Wednesday morning, June 26, 2024. The teen went missing after jumping into the water the afternoon before. The American River can be dangerous due to strong currents, cold water, and trees along the banks. These are recent deaths. Deaths at the American River has been going on for hundreds of years. Before settlers arrived, the South Fork of the American River was home to the Nisenan Indians, who lived in the Yuba, Bear, and American river watersheds. Over three quarters of the Valley Nisenan died in the malaria epidemic of 1833. The Hill Nisenan were destroyed by the Gold Rush. Though there were some hard-fought battles, a vigilante army calling themselves the Placer Blades annihilated almost all the Bear and American River Nisenan. People have heard chanting and drumbeats near the river. During one of my investigations, I heard distant drumbeats. The American River even has a famous ghost known as the Paradise Beach Ghost that wanders around Paradise Beach looking sad and only wearing shorts. Many locals say he is a drowning victim.

Even Aerojet may be haunted now, since recently there have been injuries and one death that I know about. A former worker of Aerojet says that in 2016, he witnessed a stapler slide to one part of the desk by itself. There have been accidents at Aerojet facilities, most notably a significant explosion in 2013 at their California plant which resulted in one employee fatality and another injured. During my time at Aerojet, I never witnessed any paranormal activity. Some history about Aerojet. The Aerojet General Corporation was founded in 1942 during World War II, as a rocket propulsion manufacturer for the U.S. government. In the following decades, the company expanded its operations in Rancho Cordova, CA, and became one of the leading defense and aerospace contractors in the United States. Aerojet is located at:

Aerojet Rocketdyne
2001 Aerojet Road
Rancho Cordova 95742

Also, near Aerojet is the now closed haunted Mather Air Force Base. All military bases are haunted, due to numerous training accidents that have resulted in death. Military bases just like your cities, have suicides, murders and accidental deaths. I have been to Mather AFB a few times and captured many EVPs. One of my investigators captured a strange mist by a barrack's window. The mist almost had the shape of a human body. We were not able to recreate the image and have no explanation for the appearance of the mist. Another investigator felt 3 taps on her shoulder. She turned around and no one was there. I would say Mather AFB and the American River are very haunted locations in the Greater Sacramento Area.

What are Ghosts?

I have been a ghost hunter since 2004. I have been interested in the paranormal all of my life. The reason being is that I lived in a haunted house when I was a little boy. I witnessed all kinds of paranormal activity and the entities seemed to be centered on me. I was terrified with this experience and as I got older, I started reading books on the paranormal. I wanted answers. I wanted to know if I experienced childhood nightmares or did I really experience the paranormal. Today, a great friend and colleague Tim R. Swartz, Paranormal Researcher & Author asked me a few questions in regard to ghosts and hauntings. Here are my answers. The answers are solely my opinion.

Question: In regard to ghosts throughout time. Do ghosts remain the same as when they were living?

Answer: It appears that ghosts will look exactly the way when they died. When I was in the Army, I was stationed at Nuremberg, Germany. I had the opportunity to visit many castles in Germany. It seemed that every castle was haunted. The locals all had stories of seeing ghosts at these castles. Some of the haunted castles that I visited were Neuschwanstein Castle; Frankenstein Castle; Braunfels Castle; Cochem Castle; Wartburg Castle and of course the Imperial Castle of Nuremberg. Locals and tourists who have seen apparitions at these castles say that the ghosts are wearing period outfits. Soldiers will be seen carrying swords and shields. At some castles locals mentioned that the ghostly soldiers wore 16th century dress and were carrying matchlock muskets. I believe most of these apparitions are residual energy, non-intelligent. The scenes of the past will play out over and over again.

Question: What Ghosts Do and Why They Do it?

Answer: One of the things that I noticed as a ghosthunter is that some ghosts do not want to go into the light. The reason being is that they feel they will be judged for past sins and sent to Hell. I actually asked a ghost this question and received the EVP answer: "I will be judged!" Other times, there is unfinished business. Case example: A mother passes away and now haunts her daughter's home. She is sticking around because the daughter is pregnant and she wants to be around for the birth of the baby, she wants to be the baby's angel and watch over her. With this case, I did an EVP session and asked the mother (ghost) why she won't go into the light. Her answer: "The baby!"

Question: Have ghosts changed over the centuries?

Answer: There are many types of ghosts. Some people think that orbs are SCF (Spiritual Containment Fields). Orbs for a while became the NEW ghosts for ghosthunters. Orbs can be almost anything from dust, skin flakes, lint, dew drops, light refractions. How do you prove that an orb is a ghost? Case example: I investigated a haunted home in Del Paso Heights. I took a picture of the backyard and captured two Designer Orbs. Designer Orbs have intricate designs in the middle of the orb. Some ghosthunters see faces inside the orbs. In the Del Paso Heights case, the 2 Designer Orbs looked like they had dog faces inside the orbs. I asked the occupant of the house..."what do you have in your backyard?" Her answer: "orange trees". I said: "besides the orange trees, what else do you have in your backyard? She says: "I have two dogs buried back there." I told her to look at the picture of the 2 Designer Orbs. She started crying. I asked her: "why are you crying about?" She says: "those are my two dogs". Something like that I can deem as paranormal.

Question: What are the different types of ghosts based on time, location and culture?

Answer: There are so many different ghosts in this world. As a world traveler, I discovered there are many variants of ghosts in every different country. My travels to Hong Kong and China, I learned about the Hungry Ghost. If you died a violent death or you were unhappy, you will most likely become a Hungry Ghost. You want to make up for lost time. You seek happiness and you hope for a new start through reincarnation. In China, you have the Vengeful Ghost. If a misdeed happened before you died, you may come back as a Vengeful Ghost seeking revenge for the misdeed that happened to you. When I was in Morocco, Africa, I heard about another vengeful ghost called Madam Koi Koi. Madam Koi Koi seeks revenge on misdeeds. Madam Koi-Koi is a vengeful ghost that haunts boarding schools at night, particularly in dormitories, hallways, and toilets. She is often depicted wearing red high heels that make a clicking sound, known as "koi-koi". The legend is popular in boarding schools in Nigeria, Ghana, South Africa, and other African countries. When I was stationed in Seoul, Korea, I heard stories about the Korean Virgin Ghost. A woman ghost that has never been deflowered and she wanders about looking for a mate. When I was in Tokyo, Japan I heard about the Inugami. A person may get possessed by the spirit of a dog. Since I am a dog lover, I wouldn't mind being possessed by my dog. Inugami is a good spirit. My uncle Jose Causing told me that when he was in India, many India men are afraid of the Churel. The Churel is a revenant that has come back and looks and acts like a lustful woman. Do not be deceived by the Churel, because she can cause you misfortune and even death. In Sri Lanka, you have the Devil Bird. The Devil Bird can mimic a human. The Devil Bird can sound like a baby crying. You hear the baby crying, you investigate, and you vanish off the face of the Earth. The Devil Bird is very dangerous. If you encounter this ghost, run the opposite direction. Your life could depend on it. When I was in Bangkok, Thailand I learned about the seductive ghost called Nang Tani. The Nang Tani appears as a young woman and she haunts banana trees.

She is pretty much harmless.

Question: Differences between Asian ghosts vs. Western ghosts.

Answer: In Chinese culture, ghosts are typically seen as the spirits of people who died in a bad way or were not given proper burial rites. These ghosts, known as "gui," are often portrayed as hungry and desperate, needing offerings from the living to find peace, while in Western cultures, particularly those with Christian influences, ghosts are often seen as the spirits of the dead who have not moved on to the afterlife. These ghosts may be trapped on Earth due to unfinished business, a violent death, or some other reason that prevents them from finding peace.

Question: Tell me about the legend of the Banshee. Also, tell me about the ghosts that have carnal lust or have the ability to create hot dry winds?

Answer: I learned while in Hong Kong that ghosts associated with carnal lust or have the ability to create hot, dry winds are called "Drought Ghosts". These spirits are believed to be the vengeful spirits of individuals who were consumed by sexual desire in life and can manifest as powerful, hot winds causing drought conditions. Then there are the Trickster Ghosts that can cause confusion in life and have the ability to transform into animals. Venomous ghosts were hateful to others in life and can transform into various insects. A Banshee is a female spirit in Irish folklore who heralds the death of a family member, usually by screaming, wailing, shrieking, or keening. While I was sightseeing at Dublin Castle in Ireland, a local named Irene Doherty told me that a Banshee screamed in the middle of the night, and she awoke to find her pet dog of 12 years was as stiff as a board. The dog named Lou Lou had died. Irene believes that Banshees will also scream in the announcement of a family pet that has recently died.

Question: What are essential ghost hunting equipment.

Answer: The main equipment you should have as a ghosthunter are: Camera, Thermal Camera, Video Camera, Digital Recorder, Digital Thermometer, EMG Gauge, Walkie Talkies, Kinect, Ghost Box Ovilus 5, Spirit Box. To be honest, I look only for 2 pieces of evidence. That evidence is an EVP from your digital recorder and a picture of an apparition with your camera. Or even a moving apparition with your video camera. Everything else is just for show. But, this is my opinion. People register cold spots with their digital thermometer. This doesn't prove anything, there can be a draft in the house. Kinect with the stick figures is just wishful thinking. Spirit Box, I can hardly understand the words, too much interference with radio signals and people think they are hearing a word, when it could be almost anything. Peoples' imagination goes wild, when the spirit box is on. As a ghosthunter I believe you ONLY need two things. 1. Camera; 2. Digital Recorder. Also, a flashlight if you are ghost hunting at night. Ghosts are 24/7, they are out in the day and night. Paranormal TV shows always go for night investigations to make it more spookier.

Question: How did ghost hunters in the past ghost hunt?

Answer: Ghost Hunters from our past like Ed and Lorraine Warren used dowsing rods. Dowsing rods are usually a forked stick or bent wires that are held in each hand and moved to detect unseen energies. Ghost hunters of the past used compasses. A sudden movement or spinning of the needle could indicate paranormal activity. Ouija boards was a popular tool in the 19th century. Seances to communicate with the dead. Automatic writing another popular tool in the 19th century. Hans Holzer and Ed Warren would interview the witnesses and get their full story. Ghost hunters would also utilize psychic mediums.

Question: Are ghosts deceased people, residual energy, time loops?

Answer: Ghosts can be Tulpas. Tulpas are created entities from your own mind. Case Example: Walter B. Gibson who created The Shadow, thought of his creation so much, that he created a Tulpa. His friends and family would confront Walter and tell him that they saw a man in black clothing, long brim hat, long nose, red scarf over his mouth. His family and friends were seeing the Tulpa of The Shadow. Ghosts can be many things. It could be a poltergeist. A young girl in her puberty could produce strong enough energy to cause plates to fly out of the cabinet, chairs to fall over, etc. Ghosts can be intelligent, where they are able to interact with you. Intelligent ghosts are usually deceased people. Residual energy is non-intelligent. It's negative or positive energy that stays in the atmosphere forever and will replay itself over and over again. Case example. The year 1974. A young couple move into a home in Chicago, Illinois. Around 2am or 3am, they see a man manifest and walk over to the couch and slap a woman who also manifested. Both apparitions would dissipate. One day the young couple go to a block party. The host of the block party tell them that the block party is done annually and that they can see photo albums of their past events. The woman looks through the photo albums and gets excited and says..."this couple, they are the ghosts in our house!" The host is confused and says..."what ghosts? They lived in your house, they had domestic disputes, the police were there all the time. They are both very much alive. The husband moved out of state, the wife moved 5 blocks down the road. They are very much alive. This is a case of "Living Ghosts". Energy is forever, so past events that are extremely positive or extremely negative will play itself over and over again. Strong residual energy. As for time loops, the answer is "yes". If you walk into a time loop, you may be looking at the past. To some people, they feel like they are seeing ghosts of the past and perhaps they are correct.

Question: Are ghosts associated with UFOs?

Answer: It would seem like it. Some UFO abductees have mentioned that the extraterrestrials will mention that they are "vessels". The abductees take that as vessels for the soul. Some people within the paranormal community believe that ghosts and aliens are both manifestations of unexplained phenomena, potentially sharing similar characteristics like the ability to appear and disappear seemingly at will.

Question: Are ghosts associated with cryptids?

Answer: No. Cryptids and ghosts are still unproven entities. Ghosts are typically considered spiritual beings associated with the dead, while cryptids are usually thought of as unknown animal species that may exist in the natural world, though their existence is not scientifically confirmed. There is one case, I know about that may connect a ghost with a cryptid. While I worked at the California Department of Fish and Wildlife, a hunter told me that he encountered a Bigfoot in 1982. He shot at the creature, and it blew up into sparks. If this is true, that tells me that Bigfoot is probably an interdimensional energy creature that can go from its reality to our reality and back and forth. Ghosts are also energy entities. This would be the only type of connection I can see with cryptids and ghosts.

Question: What happens if you disturb a grave?

Answer: Case example. A juvenile in the State of Wisconsin kicked over a cemetery headstone and spit on a grave. When he got home, he faced extreme paranormal activity in his home. He went back to the cemetery, fixed the headstone and asked for forgiveness. When he returned home, the haunting stopped. He learned his lesson.

Question: What about portals?

Answer: People believe that at times portals open up and entities from ghosts to demons will go through the portal and you will find these entities in your house. Ghost hunters when cleansing a home, will also close the portal through various types of chanting, singing spiritual songs. prayers to close the portal.

Question: Tell us about orbs with intelligent movement?

Answer: I had a case in Roseville, California in which the occupants of the house said that their home is haunted by a woman ghost named Emily. Emily was known to drain the energy from the occupants. As we were investigating, one of my investigators asked to sit on the couch, because he felt drained and fatigued. I told him, that I believe Emily is doing this. I asked Emily if she could hear me, to kiss my investigator in the mouth. With 3 cameras we captured an orb on his mouth. I then told Emily to sit on the investigator's lap. We capture a picture of the orb now hovering over his lap. This showed intelligent movement. This is something I can deem as paranormal. When I investigate and if the house is truly haunted, I will tell the entity to appear by my hand and sometimes there will be an orb on my hand, showing intelligent movement.

The Unicorn: Myth, Legend. Did They Exist?

By Paul Dale Roberts, HPI Esoteric Detective
Halo Paranormal Investigations

The Unicorn is a legendary animal that has been described in ancient times as a horse with a large-pointed spiraling horn projecting from its forehead. The Unicorn is usually white in color, there have also been mention of Unicorns being a white goat with a horn projecting from its forehead. Leonard Lake – serial killer owned an altered goat with a horn projecting from its forehead. This goat was a way for Leonard Lake to meet the ladies. Many ladies enjoyed having their photograph taken with Leonard's altered goat that he made claim was a unicorn. The Unicorn myth has been around a long time and was depicted on the ancient seals of the Indus Valley Civilization and was also mentioned by the ancient Greeks.

Various scribes such as Strabo, Pliny the Younger, Aelian and Ctesias mention the legend of the Unicorn in their works, even the Bible mentions a similar animal referred to as the Re'em that can be translated to unicorn. Special Note: I investigated the cabin area (Wilseyville) where Leonard Lake and Charles Ng took their victims.

So, my question is, did this animal really exist?

Ancient Astronaut theorists believe it did. Not only did the gods (extraterrestrials) manipulate the DNA of mankind, they were also manipulating the DNA of various animals. The Egyptians were terrorized by the monstrosities that they were creating. Ancient accounts show that the gods were creating monsters that were half this and half that. Monsters like the Sphinx, Mermaids, the Hydra, Medusa with her snake hair, Pegasus, Minotaur, Centaur. A sarcophagus was found with crushed animal bones in Egypt, could this have been the monsters that were created by extraterrestrials? We have hieroglyphics that show a normal man having his head cut off and replaced with the head of a wolf. Take for example Anubis who had the body of a man and the head of a Jackal. He was known as the God of Funeral Rites and Embalment. There was also Sobek, the Crocodile Headed Co-God. There was also the Falcon Headed Son of Osiris. It goes on and on. Did these half man, half animal gods exist? Perhaps they did. Look at what is now happening in modern times. If you lose an ear, no problem. Scientists are able to grow a human ear on a rat and later take that human ear and transplant it where your missing ear was.

Now back to the Unicorn. What purpose would the Unicorn have? How about in battle? If many soldiers were riding the Unicorn, its elongated horn would be perfect in battle against a horse without a protruding horn. If a Centaur existed, then this Centaur would make a perfect super soldier, able to carry a crossbow or a spear, while traveling as fast as a horse. A superb creature for battle.

Unicorns in European folklore were depicted as white horse-like or goatlike animals with a long horn and cloven hooves. They were described as woodland creatures that were a symbol of purity and grace. Unicorns could only be captured by a virgin. The Unicorn horn was also known to render poison against the enemy or when crushed, being able to heal the sick. For a long time, black marketeers were selling the horns of Narwhales and saying that they were Unicorn horns.

North Korea believes in Unicorns. The North Korean government reconfirmed the location of the burial site of the unicorn ridden by King Kongmyeong, the founding father of the ancient Korean kingdom of Goguryeo (37BC to 668AD). The unicorn's grave was rediscovered near a temple in the Capital of Pyongyang, with a rectangular rock engraved with the words Unicorn's Lair.

On HPI's paranormal hotline – Charles Longtree said he was in the area of the Alps near Lake Constance, Germany and he spotted a white unicorn with an elongated horn coming out of its forehead. He said the unicorn blended in with the white snow, but he was able to observe it, when it tilted its head to the side. The Unicorn was in one area of the Alps that gave Charles the perfect observation viewpoint of the Unicorn. The observation lasted for approximately 3 minutes, before the unicorn dashed off to higher level in this part of the Alps. Charles said this happened in April 1998. Special Note: I have been to Lake Constance and took a boat around the entirety of the lake that borders Germany, Austria and Switzerland. When I was in the Army in Germany, I took a trip to the Zugspitze and talked to 3 Swiss tourists that claim that unicorns have been seen at the Zugspitze. In 1975, when I rode the Orient Express, I met Hilda Koch. Hilda told me that her mother while attending the Drachenstich aka Dragonfest in Furth im Wald saw a unicorn for a brief moment along the Czechoslovakia border. I went to Furth im Wald during the Dragonfest to see for myself. I did not encounter any unicorn, but I must admit the Dragonfest was very interesting and some German people believe that dragons at one time existed. That will be for another story.

When I was in the Army, one of the places I was stationed at was Yong Son Barracks - Seoul, Korea; with the 501st Military Intelligence Battalion, PIC-K (Photo Interpretation Center-Korea) as a 97 Bravo - Intelligence Analyst. I had a Top Secret SBI (Special Background Investigation) clearance. When I was with Military Intelligence, we did some very interesting things. On one day, we were told to take off our MI (Military Intelligence) insignia because we were visiting the 38th Parallel South Korea Conference Table. The "38th Parallel South Korea conference table" refers to the special table located within the Joint Security Area (JSA) in the Korean Demilitarized Zone (DMZ), where representatives and dignitaries from North and South Korea meet for official talks; the table is significant because it sits directly on the 38th Parallel, the dividing line between the two Koreas, symbolizing the physical boundary between the nations during negotiations. Our Captain told us not to look at the North Korean guards directly. He also told us that when we walk on the North Korean side of the table, do not touch the table, because it could cause an international incident. Dummy me, I placed my camera on the North Korean side of the table while I was on the North Korean side of the table. My Captain almost had a heart attack and screamed for me to remove my camera off the North Korean side of the table. When I got back to my barracks, I got a good chewing out. That is something I will never forget, that was in 1981 and I still tremble thinking about it.

There was only one thing scarier than placing my camera on the North Korean side of the conference table, it was my encounter with the Butterfly Man. The Butterfly Man was a soldier stationed at Yong Son Barracks from 1977 to 1978. Butterfly Man was known to hang out in Itaewon, a party place for American soldiers. Butterfly Man got his name by the ladies of the night. They said that Butterfly Man was like a butterfly, going from flower to flower. Butterfly Man was basically a womanizer and was known to have many sexual conquests in Itaewon. Butterfly Man died in a training exercise and his spirit was seen several times in Itaewon. Some of the ladies of the night who encountered Butterfly Man say that he would touch them inappropriately.

I learned that a Hungry Ghost originated with Taoism religion, Buddhism and Chinese traditional folk religion. Anyone can become a Hungry Ghost if during their lifetime they killed, raped, stole, ventured in sexual misconduct, had strong evil desires, had violent tendencies, always unhappy, had greed or was always angry. I learned Butterfly Man during his time in Korea, went to Itaewon every night, hunting for a prostitute. He had an insatiable hunger for sex with different women. The ladies said he was a "regular" and that his lust was spooky at times. The ladies said that Butterfly Man came back to Itaewon because he is now a Hungry Ghost and is still seeking out ways to satisfy his sexual desires. Some of the ladies claimed that Butterfly Man would also leave scratch marks on their bodies. During the day Itaewon was an open market and I would go there to feast on Korean Bulgogi and Kimchi. On one particular day I was eating Bulgogi at an outside cafe. I was talking to my girlfriend at the time named Yoon Sook Lee. Yoon screamed and claimed she saw the Butterfly Man. I turned around and looked and didn't see anything. Yoon started crying and had 3 scratch marks on her back. There was no explanation on how she got those 3 scratch marks. Then things got weird, because on 3 of my fingers on my right hand, I had what looked like blood on my fingernails. I did not scratch Yoon, but here I had what looked like blood on my fingers. We immediately left the cafe. I learned later that the cafe was a favorite spot for Butterfly Man to hang out when he was alive.

I have traveled all over Asia. I have been to Taiwan, Hong Kong, China, South China Sea, Macau, Thailand, Pattaya Island, Burma. Tokyo - Japan and all of the Asian countries I visited, people have stories about Hungry Ghosts. The people of these Asian countries truly believe that Hungry Ghosts exist. I have a tendency to believe them also. I experienced an encounter with the Butterfly Man.

Three Haunted Places in Estonia

Danish King's Garden

When visiting paranormal spots in Estonia, one of the most haunted places is the Danish King's Garden. They say that this is possibly the most haunted place in Tallinn. The Danish King's Garden is situated on the slope facing St. Nicholas Church. When you arrive, you will see an ominous sculpture of 3 monks. The sculpture looks even more menacing when seen at night and eerie night lights shine upon the 3 monks. The sculpture represents the many ecclesiastical specters that legend says haunts the city after dark. The garden and 3 towers have 4 specters that haunt the grounds. They are:

1. Spitfire: Spitfire is the first entity. Spitfire is a large black dog that can spit out balls of fire according to locals. The locals believe Spitfire came from the bowels of Hell. A tourist claims that he encountered the beastly dog, and it spit out a ball of fire and caught his pants leg on fire.
2. The Wandering Monk: The Wandering Monk is seen walking around the garden. He seems lost and confused. There have been times in which he has actually shoulder bumped one of the locals or tourists. A tourist who got bumped by the Wandering Monk said..."excuse me!" out loud. The monk looked at him and then disappeared.
3. Ilus Naine: Ilus Naine in Estonian means "pretty lady". Ilus Naine is seen walking by the 3 towers and also wanders around the garden. Ilus Naine will stop at the flowers to smell them. She always wears an old-fashioned dress. She will fade away into nothingness after smelling a flower, with a big smile on her face.
4. The Witch of the Three Towers: Legend has it that a witch that dabbled in alchemy during medieval times was caught and executed by beheading. It was said she was trying to find immortality via alchemy. The witch can be seen on top of one of the 3 towers. She is known to swoop down on locals and tourists and when she reaches her victim, she will just vanish. After she vanishes, you will hear a horrifying laughter.

The Stable Tower

One of the most frightening places to visit is the Stable Tower. The Stable Tower is part of the city's medieval wall, it's very close to the Danish King's Garden. The Stable Tower was used as a prison, where many prisoners were tortured, starved to death, whipped and most would face an agonizing death. The Stable Tower Ghosts are terrifying when encountered. In the 16th century, a young man who was imprisoned with his servant, was locked in a round tower. The next morning after being incarcerated, the pair were as white as a ghost. They were unable to speak, but through sign language were able to communicate that they encountered The Stable Tower Ghosts. A prison guard who laughed at their claim, took it upon himself to prove the ghosts didn't exist by spending a night in the tower. The following morning, he was discovered shaking and unable to mutter a word. He died a few days later without telling the officials on what he had seen. When he died, his eyes were as big as saucers, his mouth was wide open, as if he was trying to scream. Then if this tower wasn't bad enough, you have the third of Tallinn's most haunted towers. The Short Leg Tower is jam-packed with ghosts, including a monk-like figure who goes by the name of Justus. According to a psychic who claims to know the story, Justus was once the town executioner and had been condemned to haunt the tower until he can atone for his sins. Other mysterious goings-on include the visage of a man appearing on the tower's walls. His face will protrude from the wall. His face will look angry. This specter is known as "The Face on the Wall". You also have the specter of a ship that sails across the room. Tourists and locals have heard knocking sounds and have seen objects moving on their own. No one has an answer on why a ghostly ship is sometimes seen crossing the room at the tower.

Toom-Kooli 13

Currently the home of the Canadian Embassy, Toom-Kooli was long ago owned by the wealthy von Uexküll family. The men of the family had a less than chivalric reputation with young women. Two women are said to haunt the building to the present day, one dressed in grey and the other dressed in black. They are known as the Grey Lady and The Lady in Black. The Grey Lady was once a beautiful maid working for the family. She was unfortunate enough to attract the lord, who forced her to become his lover. When he became bored of the maid, he had her walled up in the basement. Those who have encountered the Grey Lady in this haunted building say she smells like death, cackles insanely, and uses her long raggedy nails to torment young men. Many young men have complained about being scratched by the Grey Lady. An English officer visiting the residence at the end of World War 1, was decommissioned from the service, because he went mad after encountering the dreaded Grey Lady. The Lady in Black of Toom-Kooli was once a girl from the country who fell in love with the lord's son. The feelings were reciprocated, and the pair were to be married. However, the family was not pleased with the boy marrying someone that was beneath him. On the morning the nuptials were due to take place, the girl was nowhere to be found. It is alleged that she was murdered by the lord and buried in the basement. To this day, she haunts the building halls looking for her love.

Special Note: Received some of this information from my stepmother Cindy Anderson who has visited Estonia during her youthful years. Paul Dale Roberts.

HAUNTED RANDSBURG, CA

Randsburg, California is known as a "living ghost town" and is said to be haunted by ghosts, including a miner's ghost that some say sits on the roof of The Joint. My uncle Rudy Rodriguez of Anaheim and his family visited Randsburg and did not encounter any paranormal activity. A tourist that was at Randsburg claims he saw the miner's ghost peering through a window. Randsburg was a thriving gold and silver mining town in the 1890s, with a population of over 3,500. The town's boom faded, but enough mining opportunities remained to keep it alive. Some say that Randsburg is haunted by many ghosts. Others say that a haunting wind howls through the wooden shanties at night. Randsburg, California, once a booming and bustling Mojave Desert town during the golden era of gold and silver mining, still lives on. At one time, this place was peopled with some very interesting characters, like French Marguerite and Fay LeRoy, well-known soiled doves. Harry Love, California Ranger's ghost is sometimes seen at the saloon. Harry Love's ghost has been seen peering through various buildings, possibly looking for Joaquin Murrieta. Miners, outlaws, shady politicians, regular families—all could be found living and working literally side-by-side without the normal societal divisions. With a population of roughly seventy people, the town has earned the reputation as the liveliest ghost town. Omar Gharaibeh, brother of youtube star Kassem G invited me to attend Kassem G's bachelor party at Randsburg. They wanted me to conduct a ghost hunt. Due to some logistic issues, it never came to fruition. On November 23, 2024, Kaseem G's bachelor party took place in Randsburg. They were unsuccessful in finding any ghosts, because it was a very cold and windy day on the 23rd. Omar was going to fly me from the Sacramento International Airport to Los Angeles International Airport and then to Kern Valley Airport. Omar was going to have someone pick me up from Kern Valley Airport and take me to the ghost town. 16 people attended Kassem G's ghost hunt. Special Note: In 1979, I lived with my uncle Rudy Rodriguez and my cousins at Rudy's home in Anaheim. During that time, I lived in Anaheim, I was auditioning for the Gong Show, American Bandstand. I was an extra in Roller Boogie and Skatetown U.S.A. I was in a commercial that was filmed at the nightclub that was featured in the movie: Thank God It's Friday 1978 disco film. Paul Dale Roberts

Email: jazmaonline@gmail.com

During my lifetime I came across many celebrities. More by accident than on purpose. I want to name a few that I met and explain to you how I met them. Let's start off with Edward James Olmos. As a government worker, he was involved with a function at my government office (Secretary of State) and I saw him walking on the sidewalk, along the building and I stopped him for a picture with my co-worker (Kendra Larry). Real nice guy.

Hopalong Cassidy. When I was a small boy living in Fresno, my dad took me to a parade. We came across Hopalong and he picked me up in the air and said I was a good-looking boy. Arnold Schwarzenegger. I first saw Arnold filming a movie at the Mayfair Hotel in Los Angeles, he was filming True Lies. His stunt double was on a horse and the horse collapsed and slid on the carpet. The horse slid so hard, some of his thigh leg skin peeled off. Later I met Arnold when he became Governor of California, and I shook his hand and came across him 3 more times. One time saw him in the basement (Secretary of State/SOS) with his security guards and he stared right at me. Ted Nugent. Met Ted when he was sitting in my Branch Chief's office (James Fong, Branch Manager - LRB - License Revenue Branch - California Department of Fish and Wildlife) getting his hunting license. Shook hands with Ted, nice guy. Took a picture of Ted next to my employee Nicole Stowe.

I never met Barbi Benton, but my dad did. He used to work in the same government building (Employment Development Department - EDD) as Barbi and one day he asked Barbi: "Barbi, since you are Hugh Hefner's girlfriend, when are you going to quit your State job?" Barbi said: "Not yet, but getting close." While Arnold was governor, I rode the SOS elevator once with his wife Maria Shriver, nice lady.

I saw Leonard Padilla, Bounty Hunter in action with his men as they were trying to apprehend a criminal at a State (Secretary of State) building. When I lived in Citrus Heights, Tony "The Tiger" Lopez was dating my roommate, so I met him a couple of times. I met Edwin Meese's brother, who worked at a government building (EDD) that I worked in. While walking near K Street Mall in Sacramento, a limo pulled up to the red light and in the back seat, window rolled down was Dick Cheney. Dick looked at me and smiled.

At a nightclub in Citrus Heights called Bobby McGee's I made eye contact with Mad Dog Buzz Sawyer, a wrestler. Buzz Sawyer was focused on me, and I was focused on him. I walked up to him and told him I would watch him wrestle on TV, when I was stationed in the Southern States. We talked and became friends. Buzz on one night at this club, lifted me up and carried me all around the night club. I asked Buzz to please, put me down, it was embarrassing. While working at Harrah's Tahoe, met Cher and shook her hand, I was living and working with Jeff Kutache's Dancing Machine. Cher was very nice and polite. At Hilton's Tahoe, met up with Bill Cosby and the Allman Brothers. My most memorable encounter was with Erin Moran as she was playing the slot machines. She asked me what slot machine was hot for winners. I pointed out a couple, she lost her money and she looked at me and said..."you liar!"

While I lived in Palm Springs for a while, I went to a night club and Dennis Farina sat next to me. Dennis was not a star yet and I told Dennis that I was applying for movie roles in Los Angeles and that I had the Guinness Book of World Records for Disco Dancing, in which I danced for 205 hours. I was sort of bragging and Dennis looked at me and said: "It looks like you have a foothold in the entertainment business, looks like you will make it!" Dennis said he was trying to break into the business too. Well, I never made it in Hollywood, but Dennis did. A few years later, I was watching Dennis on TV playing one of the Hillside Stranglers! Dennis who wasn't a braggart, makes it in the business and I didn't. Oh well, serves me right.

My ex-wife Patricia Mary (Mitchell) Roberts and I, went to Hawaii for our honeymoon. We ran into Don Ho and Patricia went up to him and Don Ho grabbed Patricia and kissed her on the lips. On our trip to Hawaii, met up with Detective Kam Fong Chun aka actor Chin Ho of Hawaii-5-0. Chin Ho was sitting in first class and Patricia and I, went up to Chin Ho and shook his hand and told Chin that we loved watching Hawaii 5-0.

Sammy Hagar: The year: 1974. Location: Nurnberg, Germany. Attended the Sammy Hagar concert. I went with a team of my fellow soldiers. My buddy next to me tossed his Army cap towards Sammy. Sammy on stage does this incredible leap and catches the Army cap. Sammy places the cap on his head and finishes his whole routine wearing my buddy's Army cap. My buddy was so thrilled about this. I had a hard time calming him down.

Concerts: I saw War, Tower of Power, Santana, Curtis Mayfield at Winterland in San Francisco. Attended a rock concert in Stockton, CA in 1972, and watched Buddy Miles, Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young. The Stockton Skulls (motorcycle club) started some fights, the Stockton police came, and tear gassed us all. Saw Heart in concert with Karen Jean Caruso. I snuck in for free. When Heart started singing Crazy on You, they made it rain. Then they sang Magic Man and Barracuda and the thunder hit. It was magical. Saw Janet Jackson in concert at Sacramento Memorial Auditorium. Saw Lou Rawls at the Red Lion Inn in Sacramento. Saw Jimmy Page with Jeff Clifford in Vacaville, Ca outdoor concert. My stepson Jason Randall Porter and I, went to Cal-Expo to see Britney Spears and Pink. At the California State Fair, I saw Rose Royce and the Staple Singers. As the Disco King of Sacramento, I was always allowed to sit in the VIP section with my entourage at Galactica 2000. Then one night CHIC came in and I had to give up my VIP seats. I met everyone from CHIC, they were cool. When they walked in, the DJ was playing "Chic Chic Cheer!", then later "Good Times." Then all through the night, the DJ played songs like "Everybody Dance" and "Dance, Dance, Dance". I had a blast partying with CHIC.

When I was the Disco King of Sacramento, I performed with my dancers at Club Lido (which is now Grand Island Mansion). While partying at Club Lido the Tubes were performing and 2 members of Fleetwood Mac flew in by helicopter and partied with us at Club Lido. I do not know who the 2 Fleetwood Mac musicians were. We ate caviar at this party. As the Disco King, I had full access to the Club Lido Rolls Royce.

When I was stationed in Seoul, Korea I ran into all of the Dallas Cowboy Cheerleaders at a hotel lobby store. The cheerleaders were staying in the same hotel as me. I managed to talk to 3 of the cheerleaders. They were doing a USO show.

Meeting Kristy Swanson and Malcolm McDowell

I met Kristy Swanson aka Buffy the Vampire Slayer and Malcolm McDowell in 2009 at Witchapalooza (at Cal-Expo). I had a press pass and was able to interview both Kristy and Malcolm. Before the interview, I was told that I would be interviewing Roddy McDowall and came prepared with questions for Roddy, like asking Malcolm on what it was like to meet Elizabeth Taylor. Malcolm looked at me and said..."you have the wrong McDowell". I was so embarrassed and immediately started talking about Clockwork Orange and if there would ever be a sequel. Malcolm got focused on the Clockwork Orange subject and the interview after that went smoothly. Talk about embarrassing. Paul Dale Roberts

When I was going to Fremont Jr. High School in Seaside, there was one day that all of the students got excited, because Michael Parks (Then Came Bronson) was at a Seaside gas station filling his motorcycle gas tank. The cameras were rolling at the gas station. I watched Clint Eastwood film "Pink Cadillac" in Sacramento. My co-workers Jeff Scott Clifford, Kendra Larry and I, were extras in the movie "Gone, But Not Forgotten" starring Brooke Shields and Lou Diamond Phillips. The camera crew had us sitting at an outdoor table drinking coffee. In front of us Lou and Brooke were talking. They cut our scene out...sigh.

Met Suzanne Somers at a USO show in Seoul, Korea. A photographer yelled at her while she was on stage and says..."this guy (me) is from your hometown of San Bruno!" Suzanne called me up stage, hugged me and asked if I used to go to this small store in San Bruno. We took a picture together.

Met Erik Estrada at a casino in Sacramento County. He was playing cards.

I went to Los Angeles to attend the premiere of PJ: A Journey of the Heart. Met up with John Heard; Vincent Pastore and Howard Nash. At one time Howard Nash was thinking of making a movie out of my comic book "The Legendary Dark Silhouette" and every year, Howard would pay me $100.00 for the rights to The Legendary Dark Silhouette.

Well, that is some of the encounters I had with various celebrities during my lifetime.

Halo Paranormal Investigations

On November 23rd, 2024, Saturday, I was supposed to be in Randsburg, CA to attend a bachelor party for a friend and lead a ghost hunt for 16 members of the wedding party. Due to some logistic issues, I was unable to attend. What got my paranormal antenna in a frenzy is the fact I never heard of this ghost town called Randsburg. I lived for a while in Anaheim with my uncle Rudy Rodriguez and his family. I looked into many paranormal sites in the LA area and never heard of Randsburg. I was going to be flown down from Sacramento International Airport to Los Angeles International Airport and finally to Inyokern Airport. Transportation would be waiting for me, and it would be a 30-minute drive to Randsburg. In fact.....awww...now I get it. It's actually not in the LA area. In fact, it's 2 hours and 37 minutes from Los Angeles. I learned that the ghost hunting bachelor party was unsuccessful in capturing any evidence, in fact it was too windy and cold. They still had a good time sight-seeing through the ghost town. After I learned what I missed, or didn't miss, I wanted to know more about this ghost town. So, doing some research and talking with some people, here is the information that I got about Randsburg.

HISTORY OF RANDSBURG:

Located in Kern County, on a very rural stretch of land between Death Valley and the Sierra Nevada Mountains, this old school mining town is a total throwback to the gold rush days. The West in the 1800s was all about the gold rush, and in 1895 Randsburg proved to be major player in the game. Originally named Rand Camp after the mining region in South Africa, the town began to develop throughout the turn of the century, eventually settling on the aesthetic that still lingers to this day. At the community cemetery, you can see memorial stones of unusual and tragic local figures, including Emily Davidson—shot dead on Butte Avenue by her husband in 1897—and William Burro Schmidt, an eccentric miner who once dug a tunnel to nowhere. This strange gold-rush town near the El Paso Mountains in Kern County popped up in 1895. More than 3,500 people lived here in its thriving—and stereotypically lawless—early years. More than 20 bars lined its streets, prostitution thrived, and shootings and stabbings were common. The gold rush boom faded long ago, though enough gold and silver mining opportunities persisted to keep the town alive. Now fewer than 70 residents remain in this ghost town.

HAUNTING REPORTS FROM RANDSBURG, CA

FROM ANONYMOUS:

In 2015, my husband I were traveling south on 395 in CA near Randsburg. It was late afternoon and on the left side of the road stood two miners holding oil lanterns. They looked like they stepped out of the past and appeared to be more of a sepia, fuzzy photograph appearance than full color life. Both of us said, wow, those guys don't look real. We looked back and they were not there. Researching later, apparently the area is haunted, and people have seen the same apparitions.

FROM DIANE PEARCE, TOURIST:

When I visited Randsburg, many original structures still remain. Derelict miners' cabins litter the barren hills. At night, a haunting wind howls through the more ramshackle wooden shanties, rattling their corrugated metal siding and roofs. A collapsed mine shaft exists nearby. When the wind blows, you can hear whispering words. During the wind, I heard the following words: Male voice saying: "go back!" Female voice saying: "Diane do you wish to stay here?" Diane says she was pushed and fell on one leg. She believes that a spirit was trying to keep her in Randsburg. Diane says she has no desire to ever return to this ghost town.

FROM DORA NEWCASTLE, TOURIST:

One of the most famous ghosts of Randsburg is the "Miner on the Roof". This miner ghost sits on top of the roof of The Joint. The ghost is supposedly a disgruntled ex-customer who was told eons ago that he was no longer welcome due to his bad behavior. Dora heard many stories about the Miner on the Roof, but did not encounter this ghost. Dora did encounter a female full body apparition. The apparition had long flowing blonde hair and no eyes. The apparition approached Dora and then faded away.

FROM FRANK SAVINI, TOURIST:

Frank says he is a psychic medium and encountered a ghost named Harry Love. Frank asked for the spirit's name and the spirit said: "Harry Love". Harry Love says to Frank: "Looking for Murrieta!" The ghost of Harry Love looked at many buildings before fading away into nothingness. Frank later researched on the Internet and learned that Harry Love was a California Ranger that was assigned to bring back Joaquin Murrieta, the Robin Hood of the West and inspiration for Zorro. There were wanted posters for Murrieta where they were asking for the head of Joaquin Murrieta. Frank also saw a vision of a gunfight on the streets of Randsburg but was unable to identify the gun fighters.

MIRAGE MANIFESTATIONS LA BRANCH:

A cryptid and ghost hunting group called Mirage Manifestations LA Branch investigated the desert in and around Randsburg looking for either the Yucca Man or the Mojave Bigfoot. According to Trevor of this group, both cryptids have been seen near Randsburg. During their investigation, they believe they found a Bigfoot nest.

PERSONAL THANKS:

Haunted New Mexico

My wife Deanna and I, would at times work as "carny(s)" at the NorCal Celtic Festival / Scottish Festival in Woodland, CA for the fun of it, along with getting some extra spending cash. Our boss was Nancy Williams. Nancy would travel in this big white van filled with Celtic goodies. Nancy was known for her Ms. Morrison Shortbread that everyone seemed to love. Nancy was from New Mexico and one day Deanna tells Nancy that she wants to visit New Mexico. Nancy says..."why? There is nothing but dirt!" I have been to New Mexico 4 times and basically Nancy is correct, there is nothing but dirt out there, as far as you can see. Driving through New Mexico is the first time I saw a tornado funnel in the clouds. The tornado never touched ground, which was a good thing for me. I have seen a lot of dirt devils in New Mexico also. As a little boy, I went to Billy the Kid's grave site. In 1998, I went to Roswell to visit the Roswell Museum. Besides Billy the Kid's gravesite and the Roswell Museum, there is much more things to see. New Mexico is a paranormal visitor's smorgasbord. In this article, I will talk about 4 haunted places in New Mexico. There are many other haunted places in New Mexico and perhaps that will be for another article. For now, let's look at the four that I picked out:

Hotel Parq Central

Tourists love Albuquerque's classy Hotel Parq Central and its fabulous rooftop cocktail lounge. While the tourists are enjoying their margaritas, little do they know that the Hotel Parq has a dark haunted history. The Hotel Parq went through a big renovation with luxury accommodations. The Hotel Parq Central has a sordid history. It was once a hospital and psychiatric facility. Tourists have complained about seeing ghostly apparitions. Former patients of the hospital claim that during their stays, they heard disembodied voices. Tourists have seen objects being moved by invisible forces. Many reports have come in, in which tourists say that they feel like they are constantly being watched. One tourist says that she saw a little girl apparition walking a big black dog down the hallway. The little girl looked at the tourist and said..."do you want to pet my dog?" The dog was snarling. Then the little girl and the dog just disappeared.

La Fonda

The inn has been around for 400 years and there are stories galore about the paranormal activity that happens at this inn. In 1857 a horrible murder happened. A possible cheating gambler that was for a short time lucky, was winning money. Then things turned to the worse, and a lynch mob that was tired of his good fortune took him from the gambling hall and hung him in the hotel's backyard. Today, this patio has been enclosed and is the site of the hotel's La Plazuela restaurant. Legend has it that tourists and guests have seen what appears to be the shadow of a man swinging from a tree while dining there. Ten years later, territorial justice was moved from the courthouse to La Fonda's lobby when the Honorable John P. Slough, Chief Justice of the Territorial Supreme Court, was shot there. Guests claim they have sighted the judge, in his long black coat, wandering the hotel today. The judge usually has his head down and is sweating profusely from his forehead. A young bride, who was murdered on her wedding night by a jealous ex-lover, is also said to haunt the wedding suite. At the bar, some guests have seen a ghostly cowboy pull up a chair and sit at the bar for a minute and then vanish. Another apparition is "Hot Lips", a former prostitute that is seen walking the streets. She is called "Hot Lips" because she has placed excessive red lipstick on her lips. She will wink at you and then disappear.

KiMo Theater

In 1951, a water heater exploded in the theater, killing several people, including a six-year-old named Bobby. Bobby is now a mischievous ghost. It's tradition for performers at the KiMo to leave Bobby a small gift or treat. The treat he likes the most are donuts. Performers make sure to give Bobby the Ghost the treats first or he will cause havoc at the performance. He supposedly messes with the electricity, opens and closes doors repeatedly, and drops cables and other equipment from the ceiling in order to distract the performers and make them forget their lines. Bobby will also tip over your popcorn and you can hear his giggle, as the popcorn is thrown on the floor. In the theater there is another ghost, known as "Shadow Man". Shadow

Man will sit in a back seat and watch the performance. He is a complete full body shadow.

Plaza Hotel

The Plaza Hotel is next to the lush green forests and fields which are about an hour north of Santa Fe. Las Vegas, New Mexico (not to be confused with Las Vegas, Nevada) is a picturesque town that's been featured in movies and TV shows like Red Dawn, No Country for Old Men, Easy Rider, and Longmire. It also has a creepy claim to fame. If you visit the hotel book Room 310 and you might encounter the past owner Byron T. Wells. The Plaza Hotel has been around since 1882. Room 310 was also at one time Byron's office and people feel his presence in that room. If you are hanging out at the Byron T. Wells bar, you might get a visit by Lola Belinski, a female ghost that is lonely and looking for company. If you act like you are not scared of her and actually make conversation with you, she will follow you to your room. Supposedly, this has happened once to one male guest, and he regretted it. He left his room and never returned. Where he went, no one knows for sure.

Extraterrestrial Land Bases & Portals

Paul Dale Roberts, HPI's Esoteric Detective
Halo Paranormal Investigations

With all of the hoopla about the New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania drone sightings, I only wonder what is truly going on? How can our government say that what people are seeing are drones? Our government doesn't know where these UFOs are coming from, what their purpose is. Our government has been allowing them to fly around the state of New Jersey for a month. Some witnesses are saying that the drones are coming out of the ocean. We do not have the technology to create drones that are submersible one minute and flying the next minute. What drones do we have that are the size of small cars or a full-sized bus? My theory is that we are on the brink of a nuclear war and extraterrestrials are practically revealing themselves to counteract our self-destruction. They have something at stake on this planet. Besides studying the life on this planet, they also have alien bases on our world. They also have portals located around our world to travel from our world to another world, perhaps on the other side of the universe or to various star systems like Orion or Pleides. The portals could have been created by the extraterrestrials, or they were naturally formed. Another theory is this could be the start of Project Blue Beam by our government. What is Project Blue Beam?
Answer: Project Blue Beam is a conspiracy theory about a supposed project that has a false second coming or alien invasion, to unite the people for a New World Order government. Project Blue Beam purpose is for a New World government having the ability to control people. Let's take a look at areas that may have portals and alien bases.

1. Alaska Triangle (Portal and Alien Base)

The Alaska Triangle covers areas that extend out to Utqiagvik to Anchorage to Juneau. Over 20,000 people have vanished in this triangle. The Black Pyramid, which is much larger than the Great Pyramid of Giza, is located underground in the Alaskan desert. Many people have speculated that it could be of extraterrestrial origin or the remains of a long-lost human civilization. Notable figures who have disappeared in the triangle include two politicians, US House Majority Leader, Thomas Hale Boggs Sr and Alaska Congressman, Nick Begich. Researchers believe that the Alaska Triangle has a portal or many portals. It is also suggested that there is an alien base within the Triangle. Many UFOs/UAPs are sighted in this area. My father Paul Marceau Roberts and his wife Cindy while vacationing in Juneau saw 3 strange green lights over the horizon that hovered for a couple of minutes and then shot straight up in the night sky. My father the skeptic thought they may be military aircraft.

2. Bermuda Triangle (Portal and Alien Base)

The Bermuda Triangle is a section of the North Atlantic Ocean off of North America in which more than 50 ships and 20 airplanes are said to have mysteriously disappeared. The triangle covers the Atlantic coast of Florida to Bermuda to the islands known as the Greater Antilles. Notable disappearances would be Flight 19 and the first vessel that vanished in the triangle, the USS Cyclops. Historians who have studied the triangle, believe that the triangle has a portal or many portals. UFOs have been seen gliding underneath the water or coming out of the water. Christopher Columbus when heading to the Americas saw a UFO dive into the ocean. During the sighting they had trouble with compass navigation. Then you have Bruce Gernon who went into a cloud swirling tunnel, had his plane engulfed in electronic green fog and wind up in Miami in record time. Bruce says: "fog surrounded my craft, and I leapt ahead 100 miles." On his journey in 1970, he recalls flying through a dark cloud at 10,000 feet, before reaching another at 11,000 feet. Flying through the second cloud, he writes that everything went pitch black with no sunlight at all. With this I believe the Bermuda Triangle is a good candidate for portals and an alien base.

3. Lake Titicaca (Alien Base)

According to tourist Rebecca L. from Lancaster, Pennsylvania, she says: "You can take a boat out to the man-made reed islands that house 4-5 huts each. The women are so friendly. Definitely take a cruise around in one of their reed-made canoes. According to the locals, UFOs go in and out of the lake". It is believed by the locals that there is a UFO base deep inside the lake. Also deep below South America's Lake Titicaca lies ruins from ancient Tiwanaku people. UFOs are constantly sighted coming out of the lake or going inside the lake. This tells me one thing. There must be an alien base deep inside Lake Titicaca. This has been going on for a long, long time.

4. Devil's Triangle (Portal and Alien Base)

Located between Japan and The Philippines and out towards Guam is the Devil's Triangle aka the Dragon's Triangle. The Devil's Triangle is known for its many disappearances, sinking of ships and monster sightings. Japanese sailors believe that this area is a portal and alien base. UFOs have been seen flying inside the triangle and diving into the Devil Triangle's deep ocean. The Devil's Triangle has a long history. Dating back to the age of Kublai Khan and the Mongol Empire of the 13th century, legends describe the area as being notoriously dangerous for sea-bound travelers.

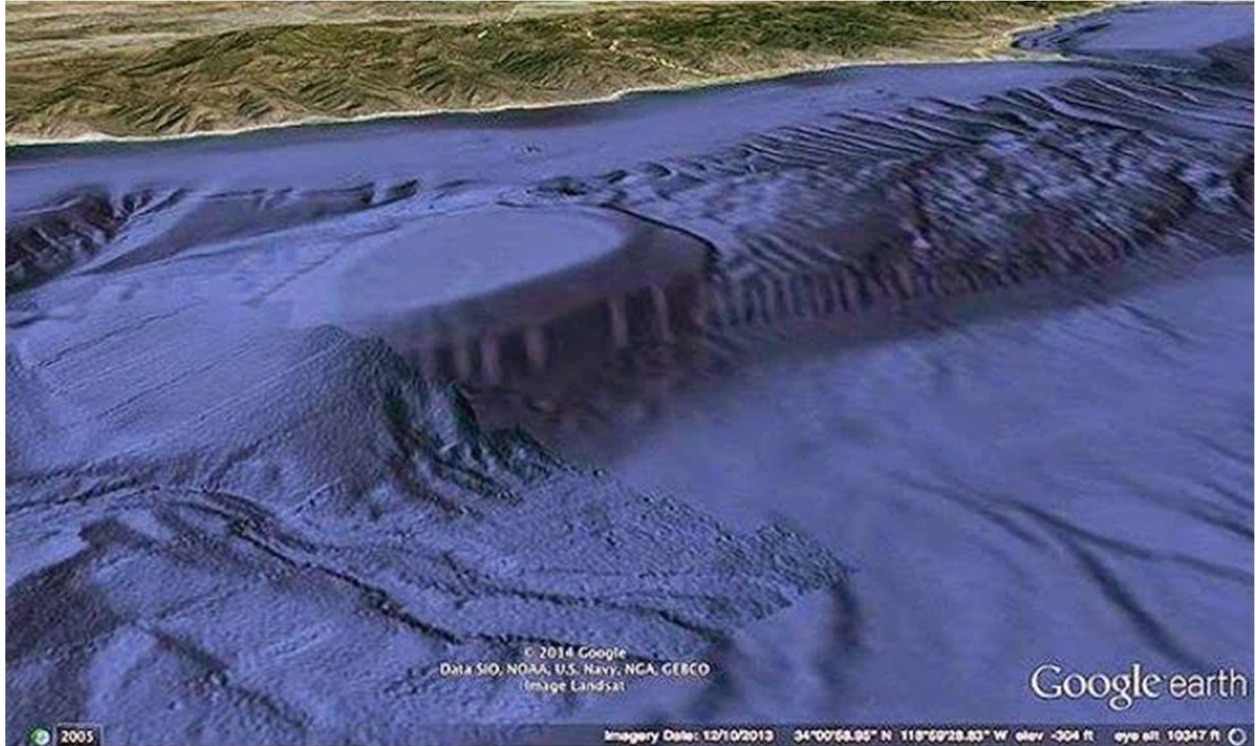

5. Zone of Silence (Portal)

The "Zone of Silence" is a region in the Chihuahuan Desert of Northern Mexico considered mysterious because of reported anomalies like radio signals not working, compasses spinning wildly, and strange occurrences like meteorite showers, all within a seemingly localized area, leading to speculation about unusual magnetic fields or even extraterrestrial activity; the area gained further notoriety after a NASA rocket crashed there in 1970.

6. Mount Shasta (Portal and Alien Base)

Military aircraft have been seen flying into the mountain. Bigfoot has been seen throughout the area. One notable sighting is of a UFO landing, and a Bigfoot, along with 3 Gray extraterrestrials stepping out of the craft. The last of the Lemurians supposedly live in the caverns inside Mount Shasta. UFOs are seen flying in and out of Mount Shasta. Hikers, campers, explorers have disappeared on Mount Shasta. There is a warning for hikers, not to hike above the tree line, because many people vanish when they go above the tree line. Guy Warren Ballard claimed to have met the immortal Saint Germain on the slopes of Mount Shasta in 1930. Ballard was hiking on the mountain when he said Saint Germain appeared to him and trained him to be a "Messenger". Batsquatch was sighted on Mount Shasta by 3 hikers. Mount Shasta is a very mystical mountain, and it is believed by the locals to harbor an alien base and that it may have several portals. I have personally investigated Mount Shasta with my HPI (Halo Paranormal Investigations) team. We captured a disc shaped UFO on film. We also believe we communicated with Bigfoot via "wood on wood" communication. I hit a tree with a wooden branch 3 times and a rock was thrown into the creek behind me 3 times. I believe

I received a communication reply from Bigfoot.

7. Catalina Island (Alien Base)

There is a photo of what appears to be an underground structure between Malibu and Catalina Island. Some people theorize it is the entrance to an alien underwater base. UFOs are constantly seen flying near Catalina Island, or diving into the ocean near Catalina Island. Not to forget that the "Tic Tac" UFO was filmed off the coast of Southern California in November 2004. During my visit to Catalina Island, I heard many stories from the locals that they have seen UFOs in the night skies over Catalina Island. Many locals believe that there is an alien base deep in their ocean waters.

8. Monterey Bay (Alien Base)

HPI has been called many times to investigate UFOs seen flying over Monterey Bay or flying into the ocean. In one of our investigations in Seaside, CA it was reported that USO (Unidentified Submersible Objects) have been seen flying out of the bay. Also, strange buzzing sounds are sometimes heard coming from the bay. Many residents believe that Monterey Bay is hiding an alien base.

Home in Fiddletown has Disturbing Spirits

Paul Dale Roberts, HPI's Esoteric Detective
Halo Paranormal Investigations

Back on January 19, 2018, I wrote this article about Fiddletown:

Something draws me and my wife Deanna Jaxine Stinson to Fiddletown. We received all kinds of reports of haunted activity at Fiddletown. You are probably wondering where is Fiddletown? Fiddletown is about 45 minutes away from Sacramento, close to the town of Jackson, CA. Fiddletown was settled in 1849 by Missourians who came to California because of the California Gold Rush. Fiddletown had its share of mining camps and trading centers. In the 1860 census, the Chinese community in Fiddletown was up to 2000. Fiddletown got its name because of Dry Creek. Dry Creek would run dry in the Summer months and the miners basically didn't work in the Summertime, because they had no water from Dry Creek. People would say they just fiddled around, henceforth was born the town's name. A local citizen was embarrassed by the name and lobbied to have the name changed to Oleta, the name of his daughter in 1878. The residents didn't have it and changed the name back to Fiddletown. Fiddletown has one notable resident, his name is Leon "Whitey" Thompson (1923-2005). Whitey was a former inmate at Alcatraz and author. A nice place to stop at is the Chew Kee Store Museum, State Registered Landmark #35. This museum was once an herb store during the gold rush and is now a museum. The store was built by Yee Fung Cheung. Yee received his 15 minutes of fame for saving the life of then Governor Leland Stanford's wife from pulmonary disorder. Mr. Cheung saved her with his herbs.

Now that you got the history of Fiddletown, let's talk about the paranormal activity that happens in this historic town. Whitney Collins of Jackson, CA says that while walking through the town with her husband she came upon a floating white mist. The floating white mist followed them for about 300 yards. If they turned a corner, the mist would turn a corner. Before it vanished, it actually tapped Whitney on her shoulder. Entity

Identified: Fiddletown Floating Mist.

Other visitors have seen pinkish type of orbs going in and out of bushes. Matt Tyler of Copperopolis says that his grandmother once told him they are "Pinkies". Matt's grandmother says that the Pinkies, a type of fairy was brought to Missouri and finally to Fiddletown by August Templar, a miner. August captured the Pinkies in Ireland, and it is said if you capture a Pinkie, it will bring you good luck. August was able to gain a considerable amount of wealth by mining gold. After he hit an amount that he felt comfortable with, he then retreated back to Missouri. Elemental Identified: Pinkies.

Some residents have made claim that they have seen the ghost of Leon "Whitey" Thompson walking around in the open fields. Whitey looks like he is looking for something in the fields and at times looks frustrated. While watching Whitey, he will dissipate into nothingness. Ghost Identified: Whitey. Meg Batista claims that during Fall, people will claim that they see a large black dog, that looks similar to a Rottweiler. The big black dog will bark and at times howl. Meg while visiting, says that on one particular night, she was scared to death, because this big black dog was viciously chasing her son. When her son fell down and he thought the dog was going to be on top of him, he looked up and there was no dog around. Cryptid Identified: Monster Dog.

Some residents claim that they hear muffled disembodied voices around the Chew Kee Store Museum. Some other residents claim that they had their hair pulled and even been touched at the Chew Kee Store Museum. One resident said while walking around the building, an entity pushed him. He could feel the entity's hands on his chest. As he continued to walk, it pushed him again, but this time he felt one hand on his shoulder pushing. The 3rd and final push was a hand to the face. He thinks he may have provoked a spirit, because he was complaining to his wife about driving to Fiddletown and that he was not impressed by the Chew Kee Store Museum. He feels he may have insulted the ghost that hangs out at this museum. He even says it could have been the ghost of Yee Fung Cheung.

A hunter who does not want to be identified, claims that while hunting squirrels near North Fork Dry Creek near Fiddletown, he came across what he thought was a white mist. He just got done cursing a bit, because he missed his shot on two squirrels. The white mist approached him and then disappeared. After the white mist disappeared, he was attacked by flies. Flies started landing on his arms, neck, face and head. It got so bad, he ran away from the area and jumped into his truck. The flies came through an open window and some of the flies remained in his truck as he drove away.

With all of the reports of haunted activity in Fiddletown, my wife and I, will be investigating Fiddletown and interviewing some of the residents and we will see for ourselves, what is truly going on in Fiddletown. Stay tuned. UPDATE: Deanna and I, went to Fiddletown and captured 8 EVPs. Deanna saw spirits walking around in the woods. Deanna is a psychic medium.

PARANORMAL HOTLINE CALL:

Now let's jump ahead to the present time. Today is 12/15/2024. I received a call from Greg -----. Greg tells me that he moved into his new home in Fiddletown in 2020. Greg seems to have psychic abilities, because sometimes he knows things before they happen. In this new home, he had his buddy staying in a separate bedroom. His buddy would tell him that he would constantly have nightmares in that room. The room made him feel uneasy and the nightmares were horrible. Greg's son saw a ghostly white dog in the tower and later saw a ghostly black dog in the tower. The tower is part of the home, which makes the home look like a castle. Greg's wife on one particular day, heard a growl, she thought it was the dog, but the dog was sound asleep. The growl happened again, and she couldn't figure out where the growl was coming from. The lights turned off on their own. On one night Greg's wife received a tight ghostly hug, she experienced sleep paralysis and couldn't move her body at all.

The family contacted a medium. The medium says that there is an elderly man that died on the property, and he looks like a soldier from World War II. The older man told the medium that he was the one that growled to get Greg's wife's attention. The medium saw in her mind that a young male died by drowning, not too far from their house. The medium said the young man was from Fort Commanche. The medium was correct, the young man happened to be Greg's wife's cousin. Greg's wife has heard a man's voice outside of the house, it sounds like he is in a deep conversation. One room of the house reeks of evil. A black mist has been seen floating around the house by Greg's wife. Greg is very practical when it comes to strange happenings, he has seen it all, since he is a peace officer for 25 years. This case is still pending with HPI (Halo Paranormal Investigations).
